

Middle Grade Fiction Books that my Children have Enjoyed

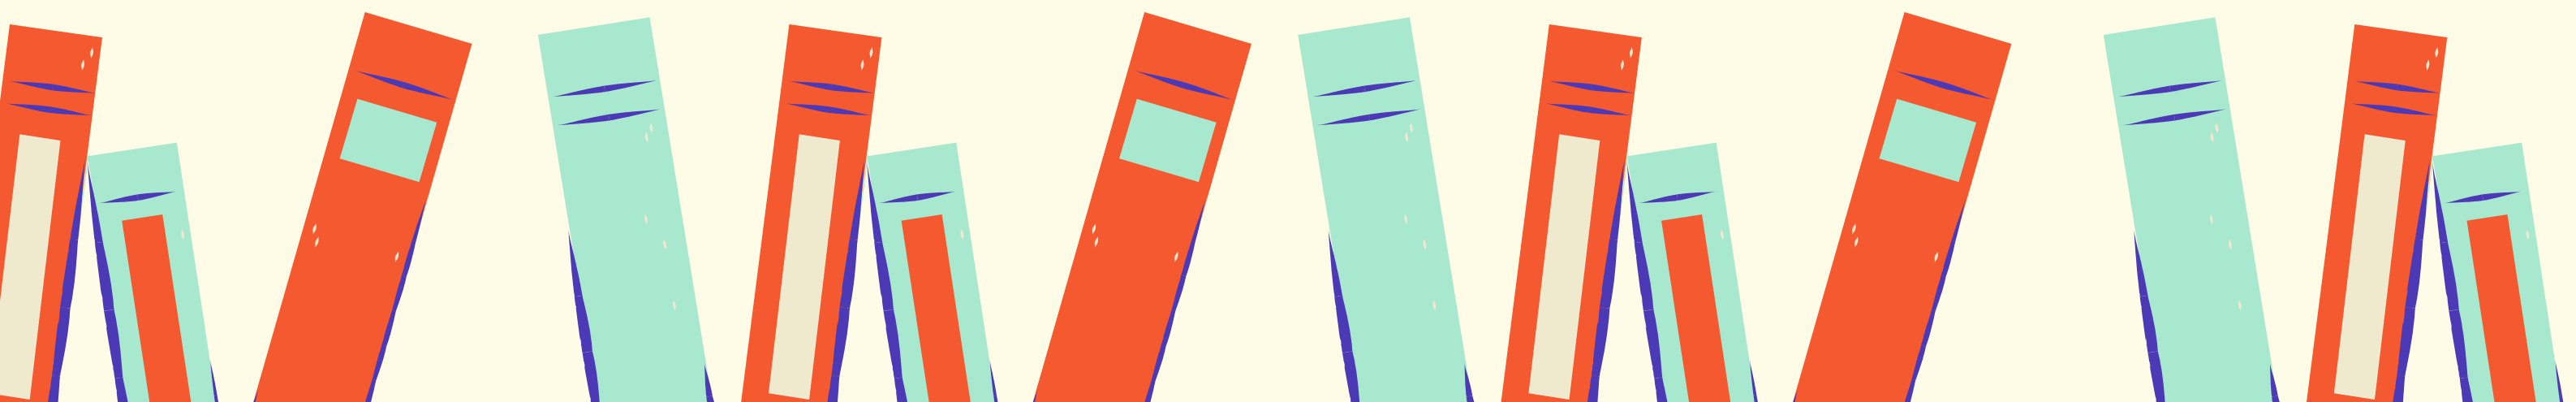

We strive, as Amber O'Neal Johnston discusses in her book, A Place to Belong, to have a selection of books that provide both “mirrors” and “windows” for our children. Here are some helpful sites:

- amightygirl.com
- coloursofus.com
- disabilityinkidlit.com
- diversebookfinder.org
- hereweeread.com
- socialjusticebooks.org
- storiesofcolor.com
- theconsciouskid.org
- weneeddiversebooks.org

Some of our Favorites:

Graphic novels/Comic books:

Bunny vs. Monkey
Diary of a Wimpy Kid
Dog Man
Cat Kid
Investigators
New Kid

From easier reads to more difficult (in both text and maturity):

Mercy Watson

Hotel Flamingo

Violet Investigates series

Peanut Jones

The Hundred Dresses

Frindle and other Andrew Clements

Family Under the Bridge

Toothpaste Millionaire

The War that Saved my Life

Wonder

The Kidnapped Prince: The Life of Olaudah Equiano

My Side of the Mountain

Bud, Not Buddy and other Christopher Paul Curtis

Holes and other Louis Sachar

Charlotte's Web and other E.B. White

Where the Mountain Meets the Moon and other Grace Lin

Pax

Esperanza Rising and other Pam Munoz Ryan

Boy at the Back of the Class

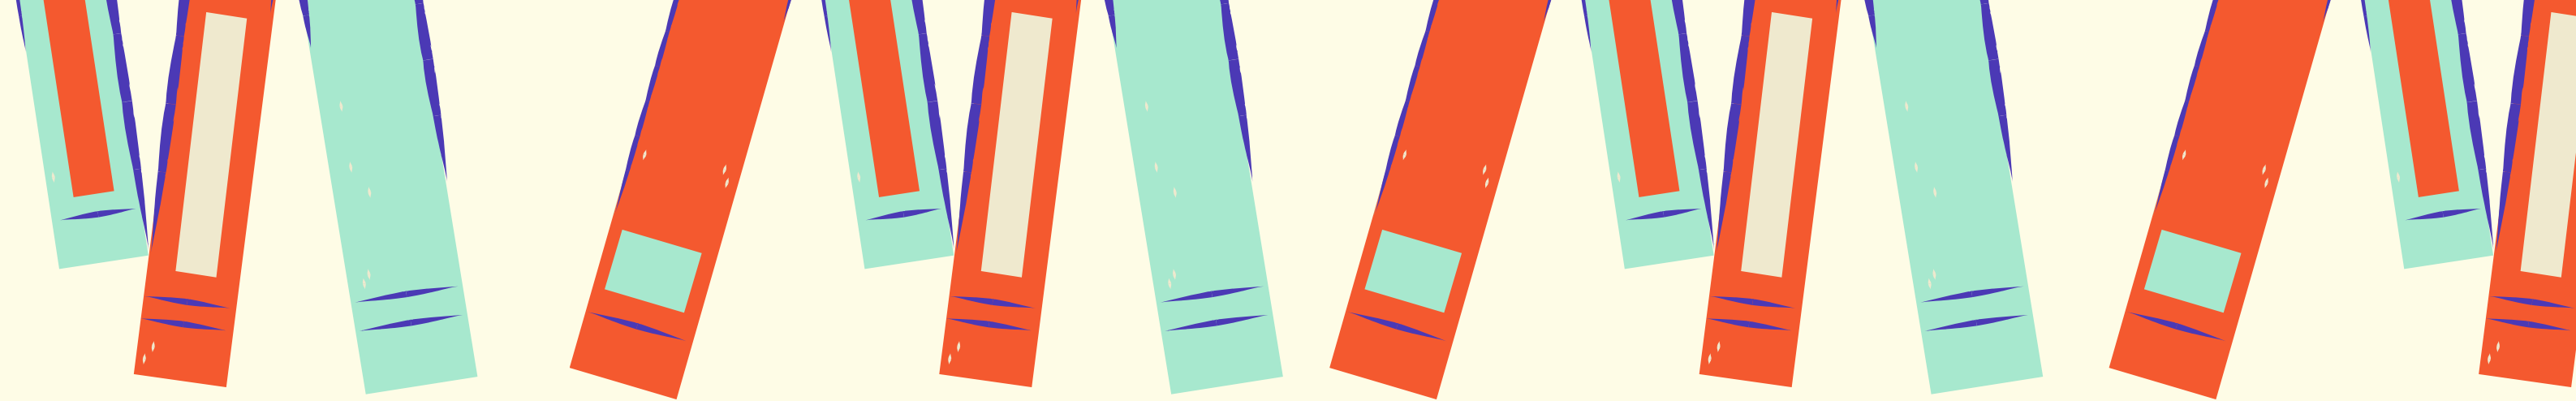

Bridge to Terabithia

Walk Two Moons

Star Girl, Maniac McGee and other Jerry Spinelli

Crossover by Kwame Alexander

Series:

- High Rise Mystery series
- The Adventurers Series
- Ramona Quimby series
- American Girl series
- Jason Reynolds- Track series
- Caroline Lawrence Roman series
- I Survived series
- Mysterious Benedict Society series

Fantasy:

- Green Ember series
- By Ash, Oak, and Thorn series
- Andrew Peterson series
- Narnia Series
- Harry Potter series
- Percy Jackson series
- Warrior Cats series

